

Clockwork Electrificator (Portable)

GADGET:

CLOCKWORK ELECTRIFICATOR (PORTABLE)

- BY CLIVE OLDFIELD

Gadget Artifact 1

Dmg	Str	Rng	Cap
6S*	1	6 ft.	1
Rate	Spd	Wt	Cost
M	A	2lb.	£20

*Stun damage. The weapon does no real damage at all, but however many points of damage an attack would have inflicted, the target is stunned for that many rounds.

 The device requires winding up between uses. This takes about thirty seconds of concentrated effort.

The Clockwork Electrificator (Portable) is a new invention just recently becoming available at the best ladies fashion garment shops of London and New York. The device sends out a directed electric charge which renders the victim stunned for some moments.

No gentleman would ever want to be seen using such a device considering the foil, pistol and good old fisticuffs are always available. But for scoundrels and ladies, this could be a very effective personal defence mechanism.

One drawback is that it takes a good time to recharge, so against any but a single opponent, it might not be much use. Against a single attacker however, the box of tricks would render any assailant unable to react for long enough for a lady to walk away, dignity intact, or to attract the attention of a passing gentleman.

